Oakhaven High School

Memphis, Tennessee

Volume I

Oakhaven High School, the youngest high school in Shelby County, is proud of the progress that it has made since its beginning in September of 1956. At that time the school was composed of grades one through eight, all housed in one permanent building, now the elementary school building, and several temporary buildings.

In the last four years we have advanced so that we now have grades one through eleven in which approximately 1,645 students are enrolled. We have been fortunate enough to have added four new buildings, including another elementary building, a gymnasium, a high school building, and an industrial arts building. A new sixteen-room addition to the high school building is now nearing completion.

Our present faculty now includes fifty-six and other staff members number twenty. With immediate plans for becoming an accredited high school with the addition of its first senior class in 1961, the future certainly holds promise of great things for Oakhaven. As our growth continues, finer facilities, expanded curriculum, and increased activities will naturally become a part of our school life.

The MARAUDER Staff of 1960 presents to you, the students, your first annual, recording your life at Oakhaven School.

OAKHAVEN HIGH SCHOOL

Proudly We Dedicate Our First Annual To You – Mr. Donald E. Hendren

In his job as Dramatic coach, Mr. Hendren does everything from fitting costumes to painting sets. Bob Foust has one of the capes from "Cinderella" fitted for him.

Mr. Hendren, a native Tarheelian, received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he majored in English, French, and Education. His first teaching experience was in Danville, Virginia, as French, English, and Dramatics instructor. Mr. Hendren moved to Memphis in March, 1958, and began teaching at Oakhaven in September, 1958. A member of Grace Methodist Church, Mr. Hendren serves as teacher of the Young Adult Class and Director of the Choir.

Most Oakhaven students know well Mr. Don Hendren, instructor of English. One of Oakhaven's favorites, Mr. Hendren is a demanding but inspiring teacher, who makes the study of English a pleasure. However, his contributions to our school do not stop inside the classroom. As Dramatics coach, Mr. Hendren has given endless hours toward making our productions successful. In addition he serves as Hi-Y adviser and Hi-Y basketball coach.

Mr. Hendren is known for his ready wit, sincerity, and true interest in each student and the entire student body. He is willing to give students help and advice in almost any situation or undertaking.

Oakhaven can only begin to repay him with the deepest appreciation in which this dedication is made.

It might not have been a particularly fitting gift for a teacher, but few of us will ever forget the look on Mr. Hendren's face when he received his Christmas present, a _____ (well you know what it was), from his homeroom.

Mr. Donald E. Hendren

The construction of a new wing on the east side of the high school building, will provide improved and more adequate facilities to accommodate expected increased enrollment.

Oakhaven Con

Oakhaven students enjoy many hours of physical activities and sports in the gymnasium, one of the finer buildings of its kind in Shelby County.

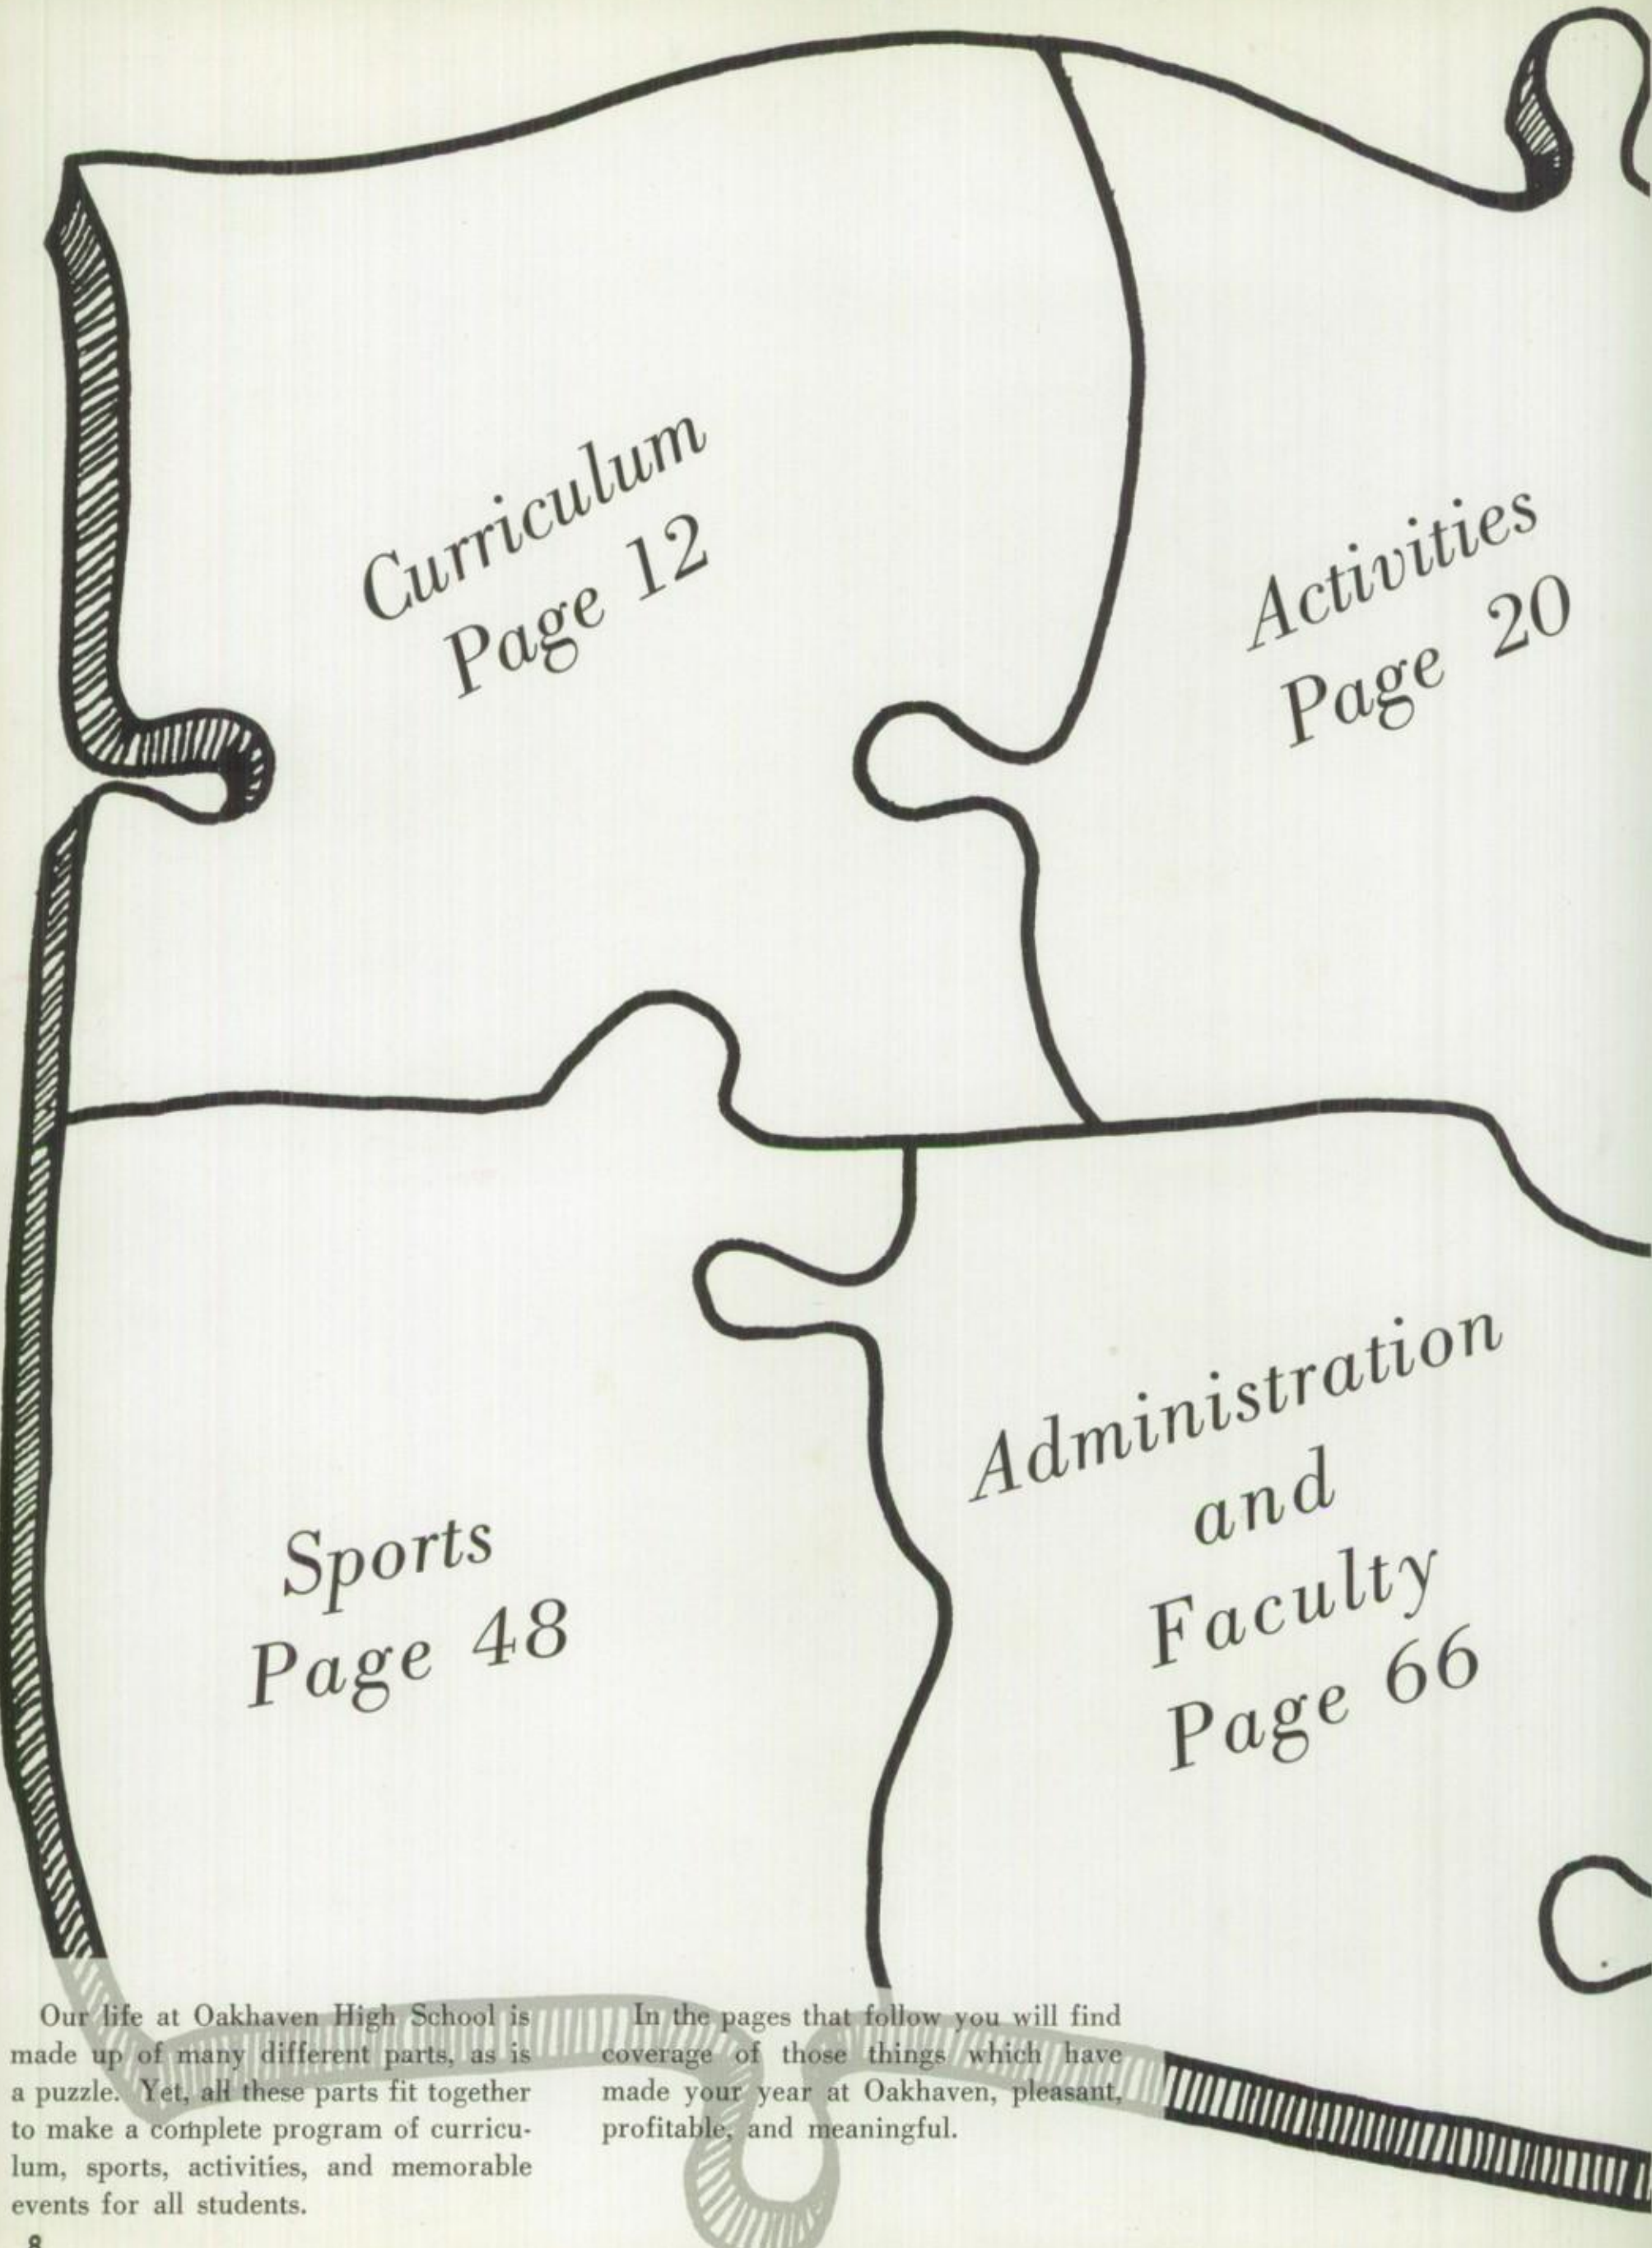

Our newest building, which houses industrial arts, is well-equipped with modern machinery provided for those students who are interested in manual arts.

tinues to Grow

The elementary school building facilities include classrooms, cafeteria, auditorium, and administrative office.

Our life at Oakhaven High School is made up of many different parts, as is a puzzle. Yet, all these parts fit together to make a complete program of curriculum, sports, activities, and memorable events for all students.

In the pages that follow you will find coverage of those things which have made your year at Oakhaven, pleasant, profitable, and meaningful.

Memories

One of the most memorable things of life at Oakhaven is riding the crowded, but well loved school buses. Janice Bean and Sherrill Carroll are seen trying to beat the crowd.

The hall passes no one had . . . talking our way out of going to the office . . . mad rushes for the lunch line . . . chasing down a chair and trying to keep it . . . the long awaited arrival of the annuals . . . the frantic study for exams . . .

Many say it's a mad house, but all must admit that lunch is a social gathering at Oakhaven. Carol Woodham expresses some of her wit to Rosita Mathis and Bettie Ford.

A typical scene in the hall before fifth period is this one of Pat Webster, Joyce Weathers, Sue Rowe, and Patsy Lane sitting on the wash basin.

Recall

The wonderful moments of victory . . . the sadness of defeat . . . the cafeteria bop parties . . . the noises of construction . . . the steady daters' love affairs . . . And those friends we've cherished through the years . . .

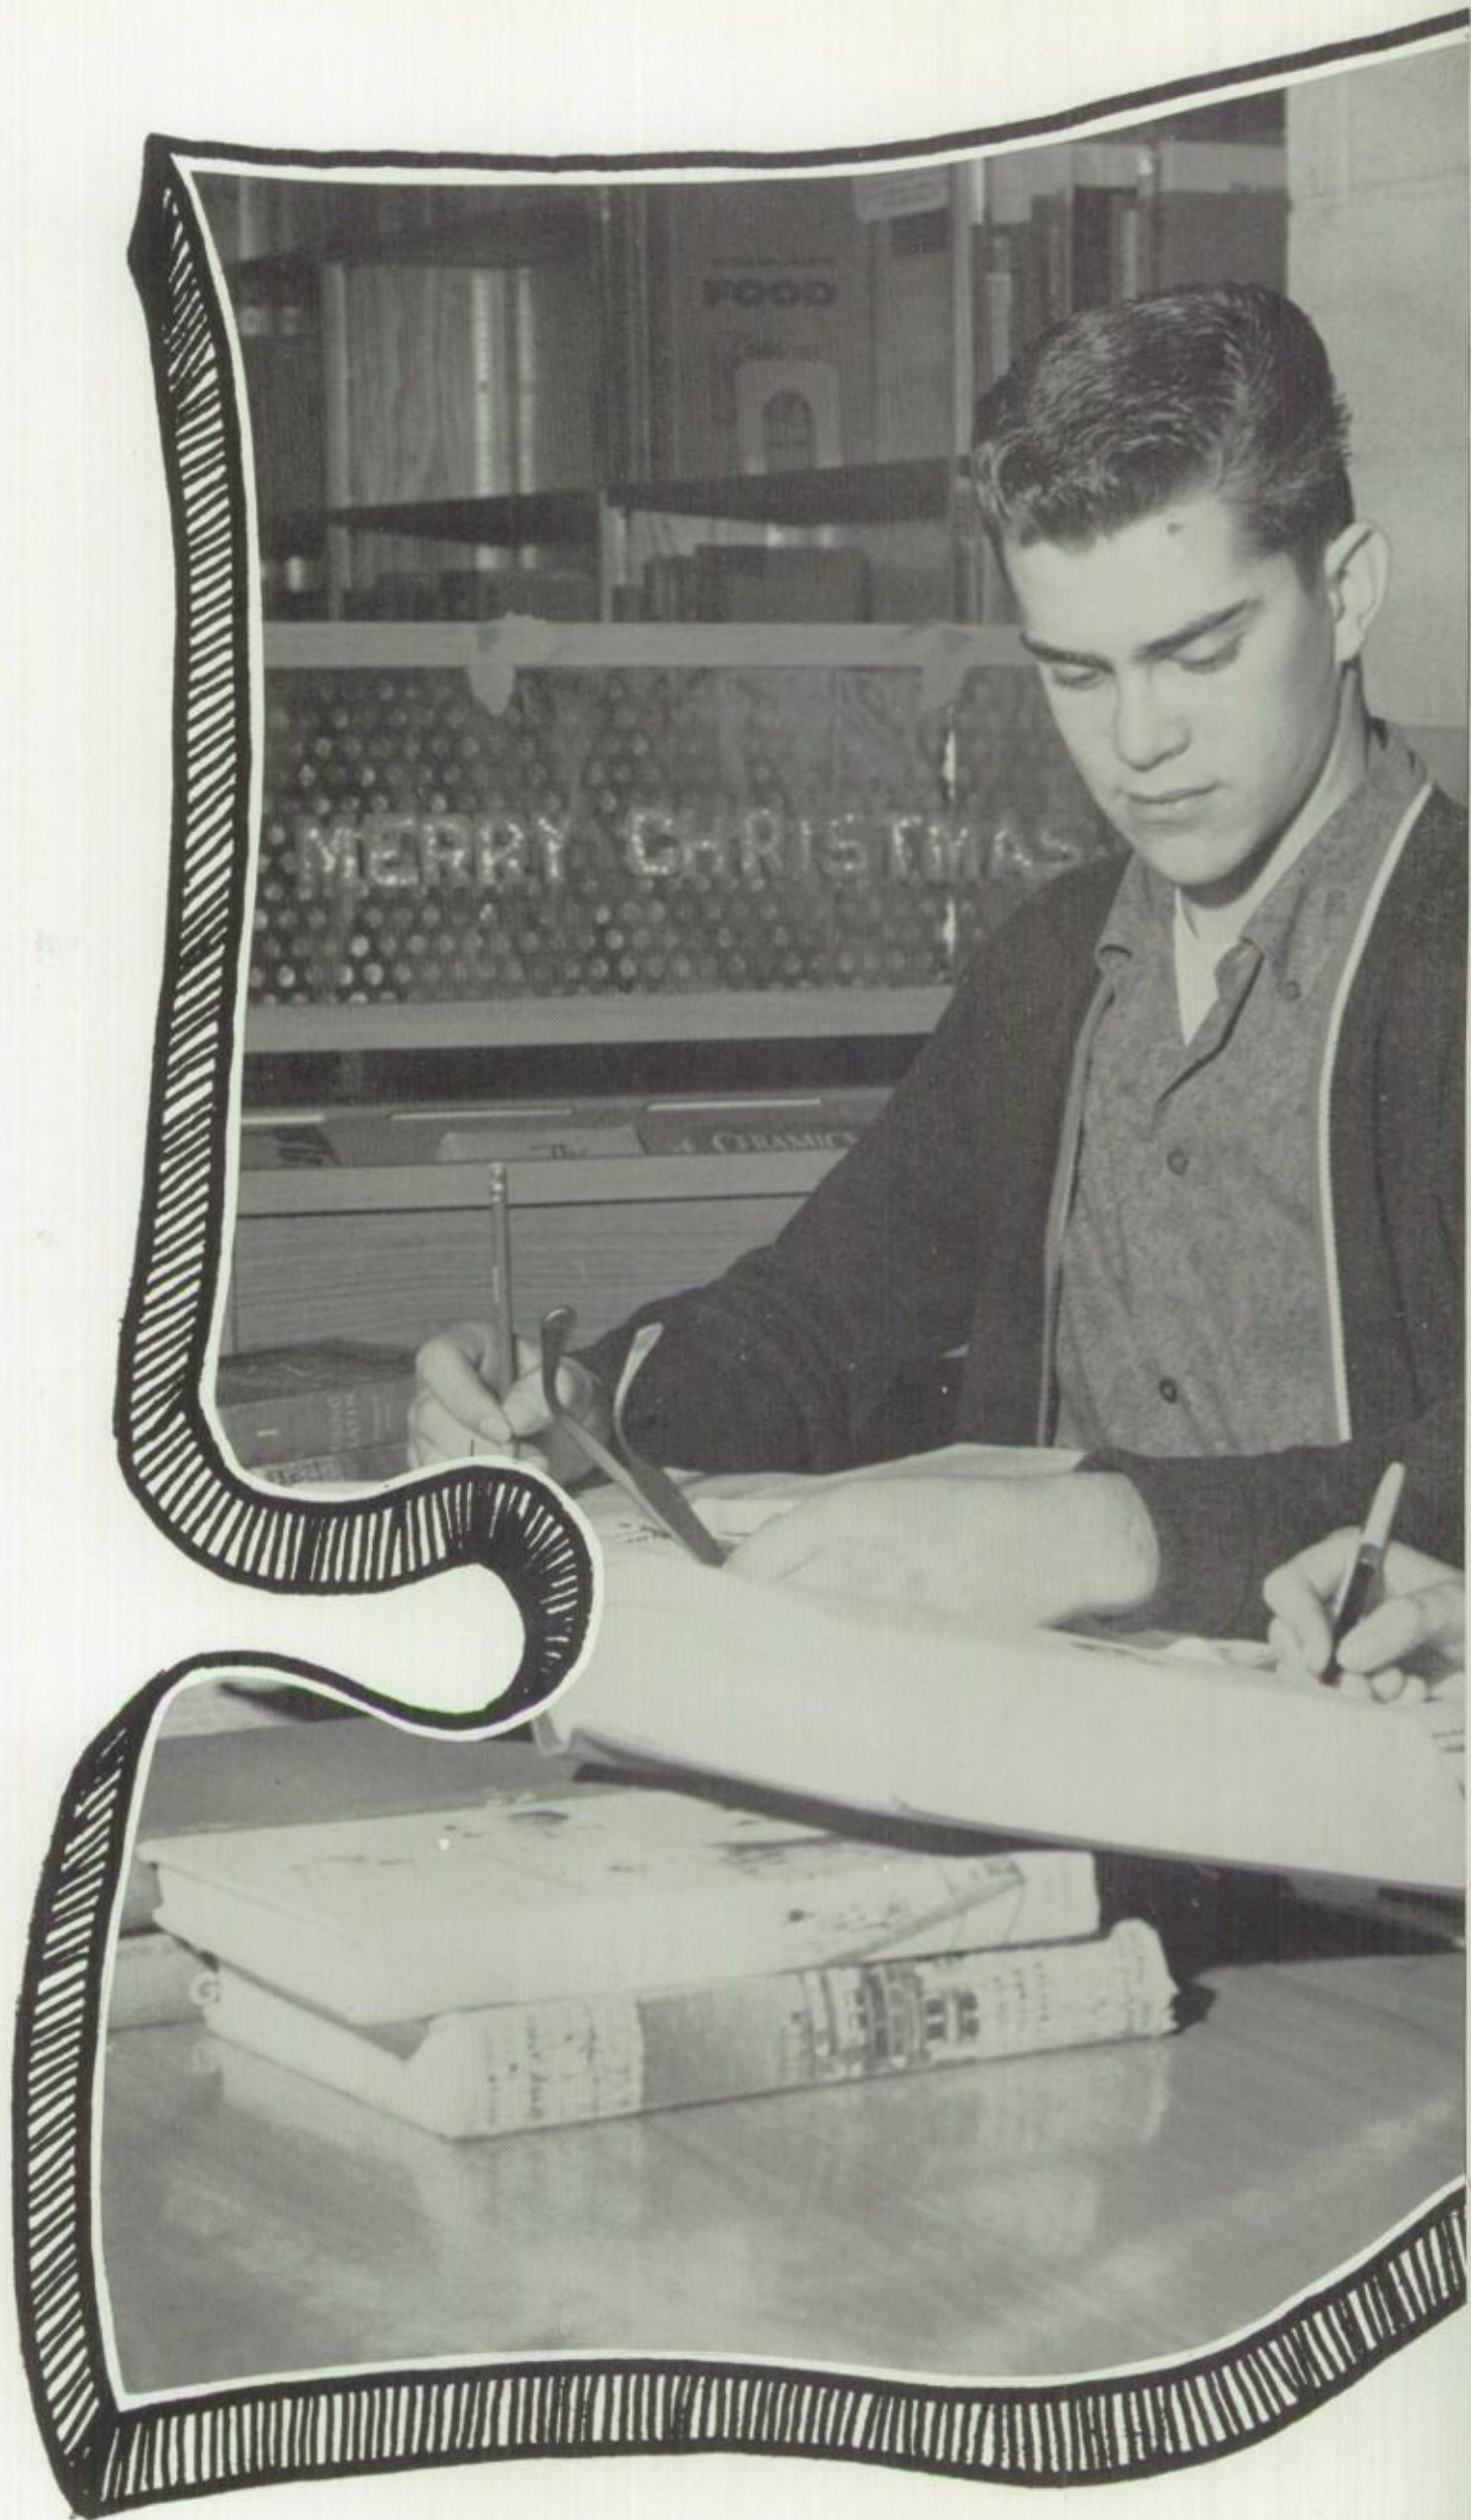

What would any high school be like without hall loiterers like Lindsey Riley and Dickie Munns?

After the rush, Nancy Fulerton gets a chance to use the telephone but Calvin Hitt and John Moore still have to wait. Patiently (?).

English and Mathematics Provide the Keys to the Study of Most Other Subjects

The study of literature is made vivid through many colorful and enlightening illustrations achieved by the constructive efforts of our English students. Dottie Cambell Brenda Perry, and Jimmy Stafford skillfully arrange some examples of sophomore imaginative ability.

Through the efforts of three Geometry students, James Jackson, Drucilla Fulmar, and James Miller, it is proven that if a line joins the middle points of true sides of a triangle, it is parallel to the third side and equal to half of it.

Foreign Languages Promote Understanding of Other Peoples and Countries

Latin students at Oakhaven such as Pauline Wood, Calvin Hill, and Ronnie Miller, have a terrific time figuring out all the strange phrases that often appear on the bulletin board in Latin Class. It is Mrs. Smith's contention that displays such as this help to enrich the study of foreign languages.

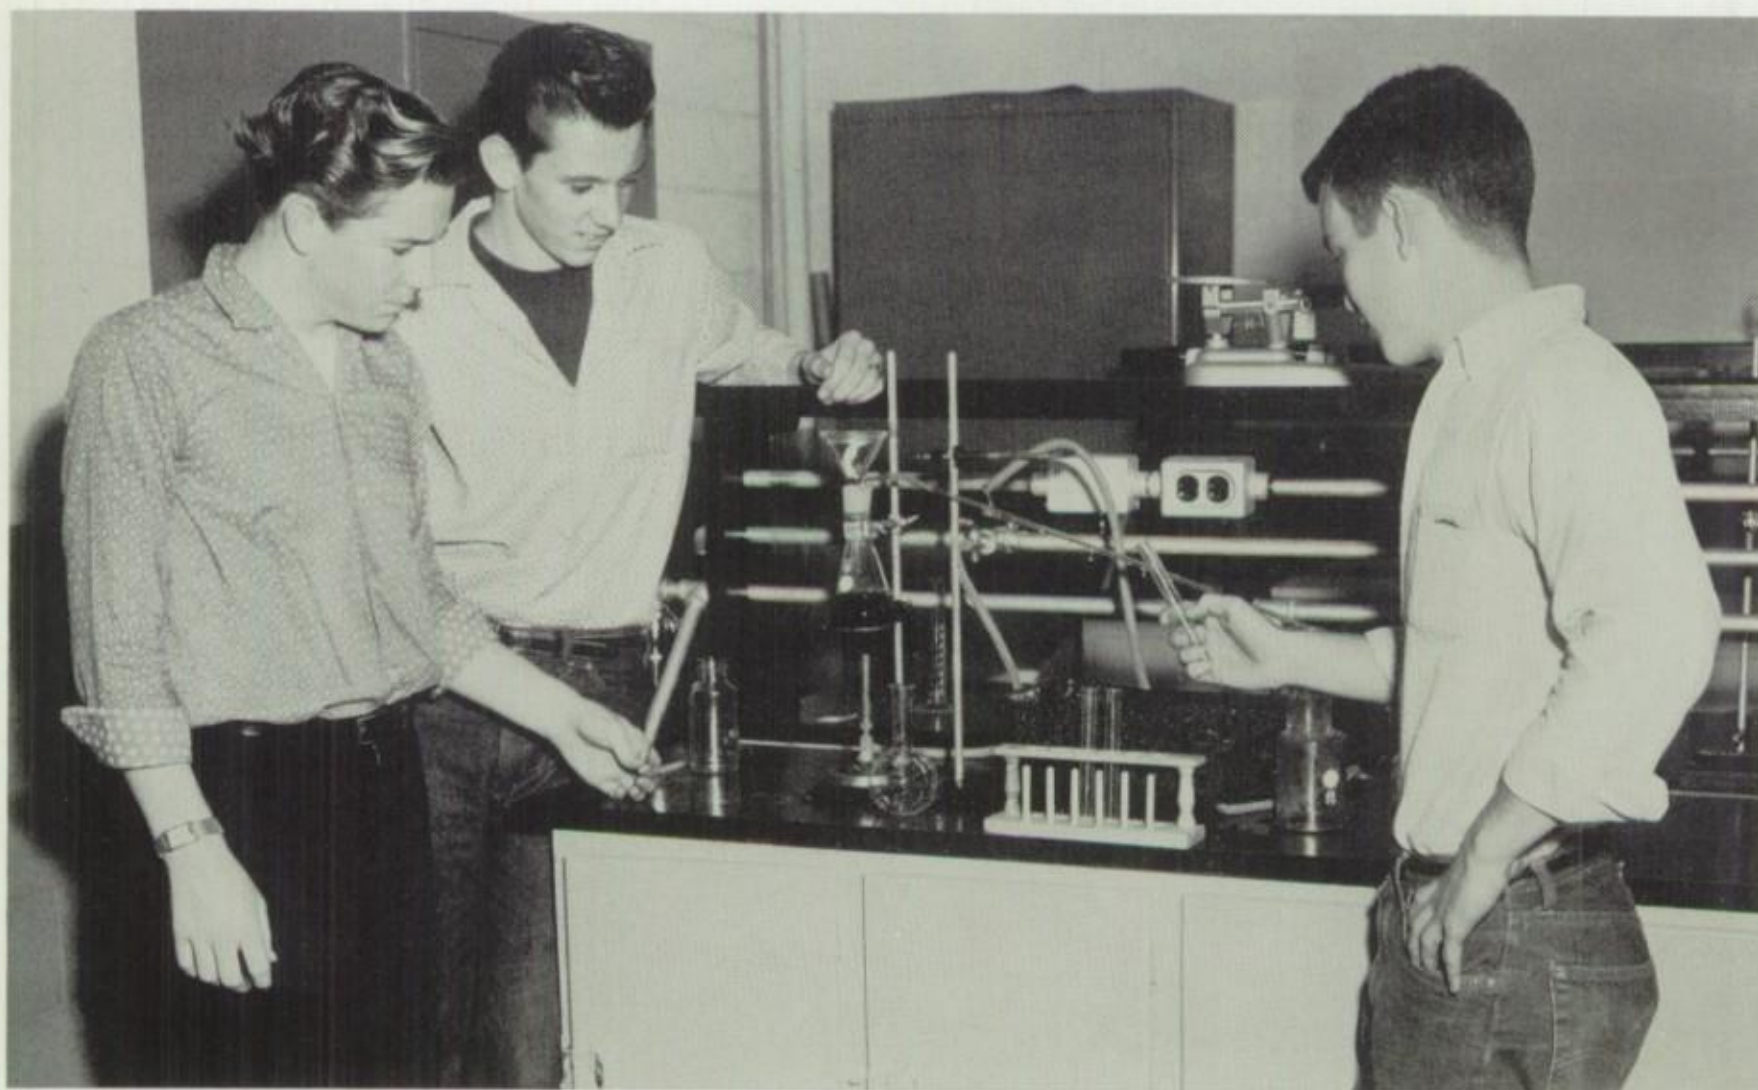

Carole Woodham, Ronnie Stephens, Jim Potts, and Johnny Irvine try to improve their Spanish pronunciation under Miss Hanseman's direction by recording portions of vocabulary and conversation.

Scientific Knowledge Opens New Worlds

Dissection is something all Biology students must try to enjoy. The look on Nancy Fullerton's face leaves some doubt as to her own enjoyment of the task. However, Alice Charnes and Delores Ferrell don't mind at all; and of course, "Observation never hurts anyone" say Alton Sides and Lewis Harris.

Development of Vocational Skills Is Highly Profitable to Some Students

"A S D F, J K L," becomes a familiar phrase to those students interested in becoming competent typists.

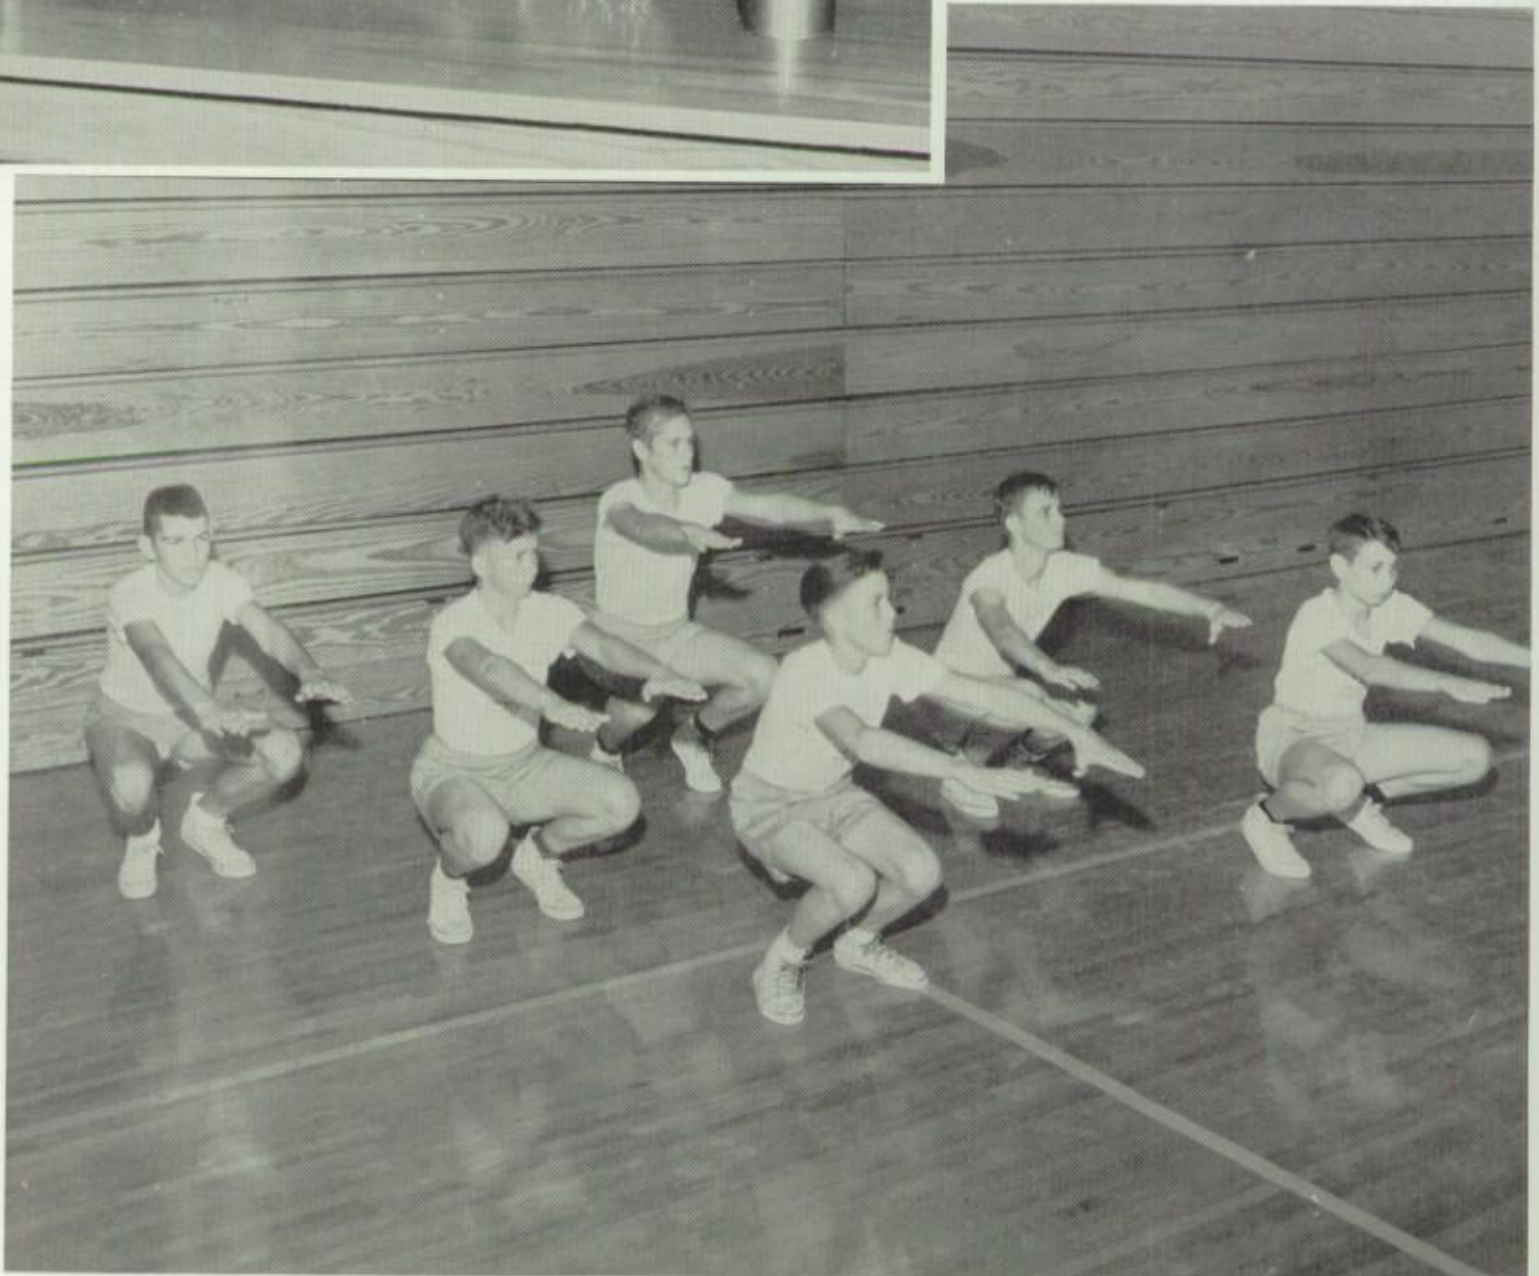

Industrial Arts students must learn to operate all machines efficiently. Bobby Jones, Earl Traylor, and Norris Chappell operate the drill with extreme care and as much accuracy as possible.

Care of Self and Home Is Stressed in Home Economics and Physical Education

Home Economics is much more than cooking and sewing. It also includes learning how to operate an attractive home. Christmas table decorations prepared in class catch the attention of Glenda Ferguson, Sarah Berryman, and Sandra Force.

One - two - three - four. One - two - three - four . . . Physical Education teachers never know when to stop—or so it seems at times. However, most students realize the obvious value of physical well-being.

Social Studies Aid Us In Linking the Present to the Past

Who said that history was dull? It never is when supplemented by current events as here illustrated by Peggy Turnage, Vince Williams, Sherri Clinton, and Martha Lancaster.

Oakhaven Library provides valuable information needed in the study of all subjects. Library Assistant, Gail Merrill, gives aid to Barbara Kersey and Bobby DePriest in finding the answer to some particular question.

The MARAUDER Staff Worked Conscientiously in Producing Oakhaven's First Annual

Deciding which pictures are best is a big job for the members of the annual staff. Judy Paslay and Bettie Ford seem to have the attention of Jim Harder, Ronnie Bramley, and Bonnie Hardy on the ones they've chosen. But Cecy Skagen and Richard Carter are absorbed in their own.

Mrs. Mary Anne Hendren seems pleased with the work of our staff Photographer.

Anola Baggett, Lynda Beach, Ann Mobley, Jerry Cain, and Linda Staples, study materials that will help them in producing a better annual.

When it was decided that Oakhaven would publish its first annual, many students expressed a desire to be on the staff. However, not all could be chosen, and those who were, felt particularly honored.

After a year of hard work we know that being on the staff means more than just an honor. Every day of work brought more new plans, revised ideas, and, of course, numerous headaches.

Our adviser, Mrs. Mary Anne Hendren heard her name called by someone asking a question, so many times she was near insanity. And we must confess that we, the staff, were the culprits.

In spite of all our problems we really enjoyed every minute of our work toward producing the 1960 MARAUDER for you, the Students.

The HAWKEYE Staff Seeks for Constant Improvement in Journalism

Miss Carol Hanseman
Adviser

Ernestine McCall
Editor

Lindsey Riley
Associate Editor

Sammy Escue
Associate Editor

Allen Williams, Bill Hoadley, Linda Casey, and Brenda Jones, HAWKEYE editors, discuss plans for the next edition.

Stapling the paper can be an enormous job. But Jerry DeClue, Teresa Richardson, Sharon Blackburn seem to be making short work of it.

The HAWKEYE staff has a definite purpose: to print for the enjoyment and enlightenment of its readers a competent report of the school's activities. In order that the members of the staff might learn the techniques of journalism, they attended the Journalism Clinic and toured The Commercial Appeal. Their fondest dream is to print the newspaper rather than to mimeograph it.

It not only takes hard work to publish a good newspaper, but it also requires students willing to cooperate with each other and their adviser. These are the people that make the HAWKEYE possible: Ernestine McCall, Editor; Sammy Escue and Lindsey Riley, Associate Editors; Linda Casey, Feature Editor; Billy Shelton, Art Editor; Allen Williams, Sports Editor; Brenda Jones, Elementary Editor; Larry Tutor, Business Manager; and Miss Carol Hanseman, Adviser.

Science Club officers, Ronnie Bramley, Conrad Hadaway, and Lindsey Riley are fascinated by this scientific contraption.

Promoting the scientific activities of students who have a true interest in science is the main purpose of the Science Club. One of the annual tasks the club has undertaken is the displaying and arranging of the students' projects for Oakhaven's Science Fair. The club hopes that it will be able in the near future to establish cash prize awards for the best and most interesting projects. Another of its plans is to form an astronomical club for the future study of the heavenly bodies. The planting of trees and flowers will enable the club to do grafting and crossbreeding. The most important goal toward which the club strives is to bring home some of the National Science Fair Trophies.

Latin Club Publishes and Sells Student Directory

LATIN CLUB—FIRST ROW: J. Holden, W. Mangrum, B. Keeling, P. Woods, C. Ellis, G. Littleton, D. Campbell, P. Dyer, L. Staples, A. Mobley, T. Nabors. SECOND ROW: A. Baggett, B. Long, K. Hoadley, B. Riddick, D. Rainey, B. Kibler.

Latin Club Officers are pictured giving a big sales pitch to a prospective buyer of Oakhaven's first student directory, published by the Latin Club.

The Latin Club of Oakhaven High School is an affiliate of the National Junior Classical League. The organization's varied program, which includes monthly meetings and socials, is planned by its officers: Tom Nabors, President; LaNeda Miller, Vice President; Marilyn Newland, Treasurer; Betty Wray, Historian.

The purposes of the Latin Club are to add interest to the study of a classical language and culture, to encourage fellowship among students, and to be of service to the school.

Toga Day, held in the fall, represents the first such initiation on Oakhaven's campus. The meetings offer students a chance to practice leadership and organizational skill; while the parties bring relaxation and enjoyment. The Latin Club hopes to establish a tradition of service to the school with its publication of a school directory.

The Oakhaven Spanish Club is under the supervision of Miss Carol Hanseman. To promote Spanish as a spoken language is the goal toward which these enthusiastic students strive. As the members advance toward fluent Spanish conversation, the meetings will gradually become conducted entirely in Spanish. Their projects are the organization and presentation of plays in Spanish.

Officers of the club are Ronnie Bramley, President; Bettie Ford, Secretary-Treasurer; and Conrad Hadaway, Vice President.

Spanish Club officers enjoy singing Christmas carols such as "Cascabeles," otherwise known as "Jingle Bells."

The purposes of the Future Homemakers of America are to promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking, to emphasize the importance of worthy Home membership, to encourage democracy in home and community life, to strive for good family life for all, to promote international goodwill, to foster the development of creative leadership in home and community life, to provide wholesome individual and group recreation, and to further interest in home economics.

Their activities included attending the State Convention in Nashville and honoring F.H.A. week. They hope to increase their membership as well as their activities.

Their officers are Jean Reedy, President; Martha Arnett, Vice President; Sandra Force, Secretary; Mary Ann Distretti, Treasurer; Barbara Long, Reporter; Brenda Perry, Historian; Nelda Merryman, Parliamentarian; and Carol Sparks, Song Leader.

Dramatics Club Presents "Cinderella"

Cinderella, played by Brenda McIntosh, and Prince Aaramus, played by Conrad Hadaway, enter the ballroom after confessing their love for each other Court Dancers, Linda Staples and David Jones perform a beautiful ballet before the court of Aaragon, King of Seven Castles.

The wicked stepsisters, Sulla and Rica, depicted by Alice Charnes and Carolyn Ellis, taunt Cinderella with their insults.

A dramatic production is not just effective lighting and magnificent costumes. Paulette Dyer lends her assistance in "finger painting" a set.

One of the most active organizations on the Oakhaven campus is the Dramatics Club, known as the Oakleaf Players. This group, directed by Mr. Don Hendren, seeks primarily to learn and employ good acting, better backstage techniques, set design, costuming, makeup, and other production "know-how."

"Cinderella," a musical variation of the traditional story, was the major production of the fall. The show was a tremendous success, enjoyed as much by the players as by the audience.

An Easter Passion play, depicting the life and death of Christ, was also presented. This production was highlighted by an extremely vivid portrayal of the Christ by Terrell Sides. Officers of the club are Lee Walls and Vicki Reynolds, Co-Chairmen; Linda Staples, Secretary; and Bobby Foust, Treasurer. Bill Hart served as Construction foreman, Bobby Kibler and Bonnie Hardy as Lighting Chairmen, and Bettie Ford as Costume Design Chairman.

In order to raise money for future productions, the Dramatic Club sold "World's Finest Chocolates." Here Patsy Hughey, Charles Gillespie, and Sandra Byrum use a little gentle persuasion on Bonnie Matthews.

With Great Success

"Fairy Tales Can Come True," sings the Fairy Godmother, Pat Webster to Cinderella, Brenda McIntosh.

The entire cast bows in homage to the lovely lady who the Prince announces will become his wife.

Motor Club and "O" Club Satisfy Special Hobby and Sports Interests

The Junior Red Cross is associated with the League of Red Cross Societies, who work together in service for others.

It offers young people an opportunity to discover community needs and, most important, to carry out their plans for service themselves.

The main objectives of this club are to promote understanding and good will through exchange of correspondence albums, paintings, music, and exhibits.

Throughout the year, the Oakhaven Junior Red Cross Club extends a helping hand to victims of war and disaster through campaigns for gift boxes, school chests, relief supplies, and friendly visits to such persons.

Officers of the Junior Red Cross are J. C. Brasher, President; Ralph Thornton, Clyde Dunaway, Glenda Smith, Judy Paslay, and Phyllis Tucker, Vice Presidents; Glenda Ferguson, Secretary-Treasurer; and Dottie Hathcock, Reporter.

Math Enthusiasts Enjoy This Club's Activities

Math Club Officers Betty Bryant, Linda Staples, Lynda Beach, and Wanda Mangrum, discuss plans for their next meeting.

The purpose of the Math Club is to promote and maintain an active interest in high school mathematics among its members as a part of their preparation for the study of advanced mathematics in college.

The club investigates requirements of various colleges regarding mathematics, so that its members may be sure their high school mathematics meet the necessary requirements.

At club meetings the members make studies of various mathematical theories, not included in regular courses such as the laws of probability and working of the slide rule.

The officers of the club are Wanda Mangrum, President; Lynda Beach, Vice President; Ronnie Riddick, Treasurer; and Betty Ann Bryant, Reporter.

National Beta Club Promotes Scholarship, Character, Leadership and Service

Oakhaven's chapter of the National Beta Club is the leading honor society of the school. The club stands for Scholarship, Leadership, and Service.

Entrance qualifications in the scholastic realm are a ninety average, in four academic subjects; and to remain in Beta a member must maintain an eighty-five average in at least three academic subjects and one non-academic subject.

Beta members' leadership is demonstrated in the number of offices in other school organizations they hold and is also determined by the teachers who must decide whether students are eligible.

For service projects the Beta Club bought shrubbery for landscaping the school grounds, and sold ballpoint pens to the student body and school patrons on which the season's basketball schedule was printed.

The club's officers are Howard Crowson, President; Ernestine McCall, Vice President; Carol Woodham, Secretary; Ralph Thornton, Treasurer; and Mrs. Sarah Riley, Sponsor.

New inductees in the Beta Club recite their pledge, being administered by Carole Woodham, Secretary.

Cheerleaders for the Hawks Boost

The varsity cheerleaders have worked hard to make this year's squad the best Oakhaven has ever had. No game, and certainly no pep rally, would have been the same without the vibrant voices of the cheerleaders. The student body feels fortunate to have had enthusiastic, cooperative girls to cheer the Hawks to victory. Rosita Mathis is the squad captain.

Television show "Gunsmoke" inspired this version of "Mr. Dillon" by the varsity cheerleaders.

Cheering is fun at times, but when it's 25 degrees, it can be a real chore. Our cheerleaders encourage the spectators to cheer in spite of the weather.

Oakhaven's Parent-Teacher Association celebrated the founding of the association with a skit in which Mrs. Sam Hughey and Mrs. J. F. Bramley, depicted original founders.

Members of the Oakhaven Parent Teachers Association have as their central purpose to improve and aid Oakhaven and its students. The association sponsors a carnival and many bop parties each year. With funds earned from these activities, the association has bought many nice things for the school, including draperies and a public address system.

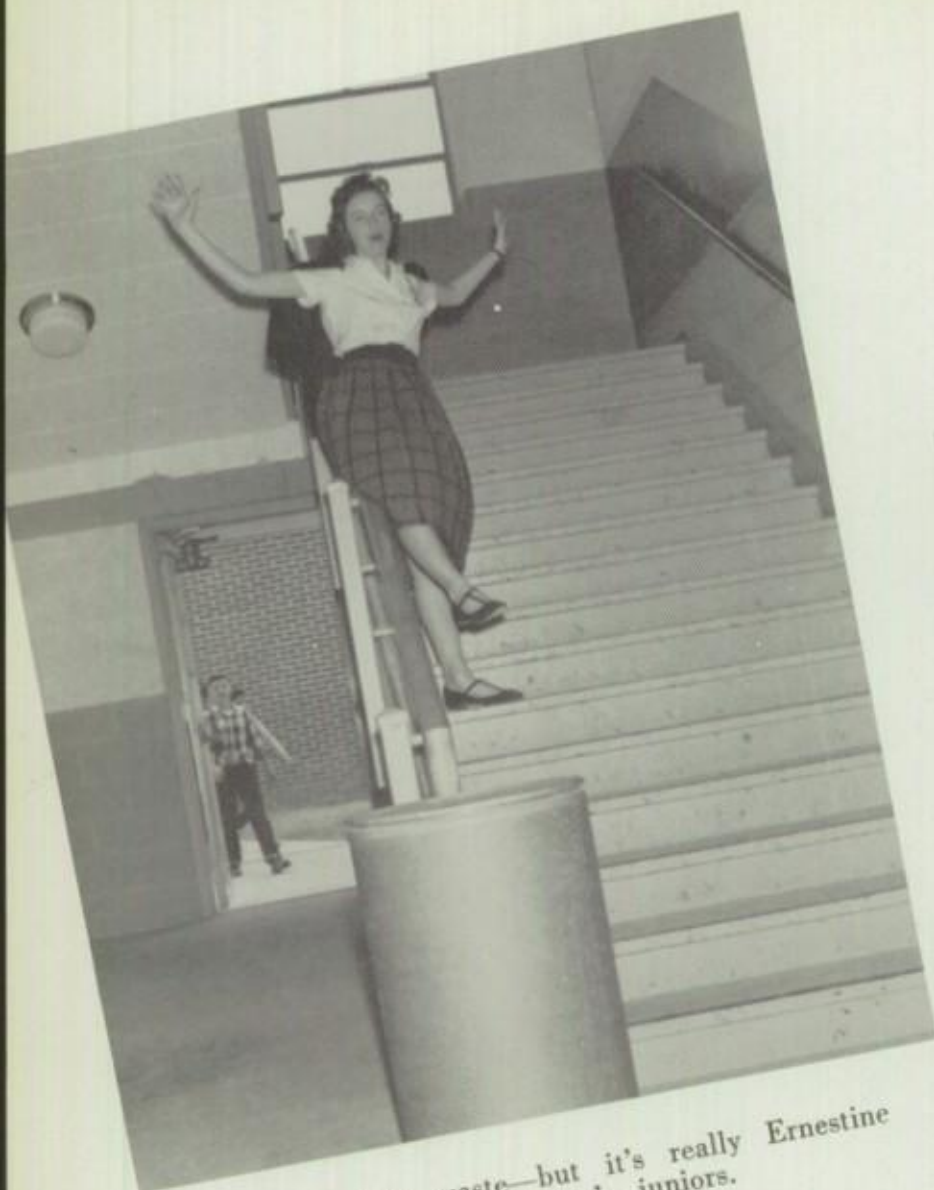

Officers of the Boosters Club help out in the refreshment stand during basketball games. W. Q. Bryant; C. S. Littleton; Anderson; Reed Denman, President; Bill Robinson, Treasurer; and J. P. Oakhaven Boosters work very earnestly to aid our school and particularly our athletic program. One of the best services they rendered this year was in operating the concession stand at all the basketball games. Their gifts of down payments on a washer and dryer for the athletic department, where they were certainly welcomed.

The Coca-Cola dance party, starring Ron Meroney, featured Oakhaven High School on television.

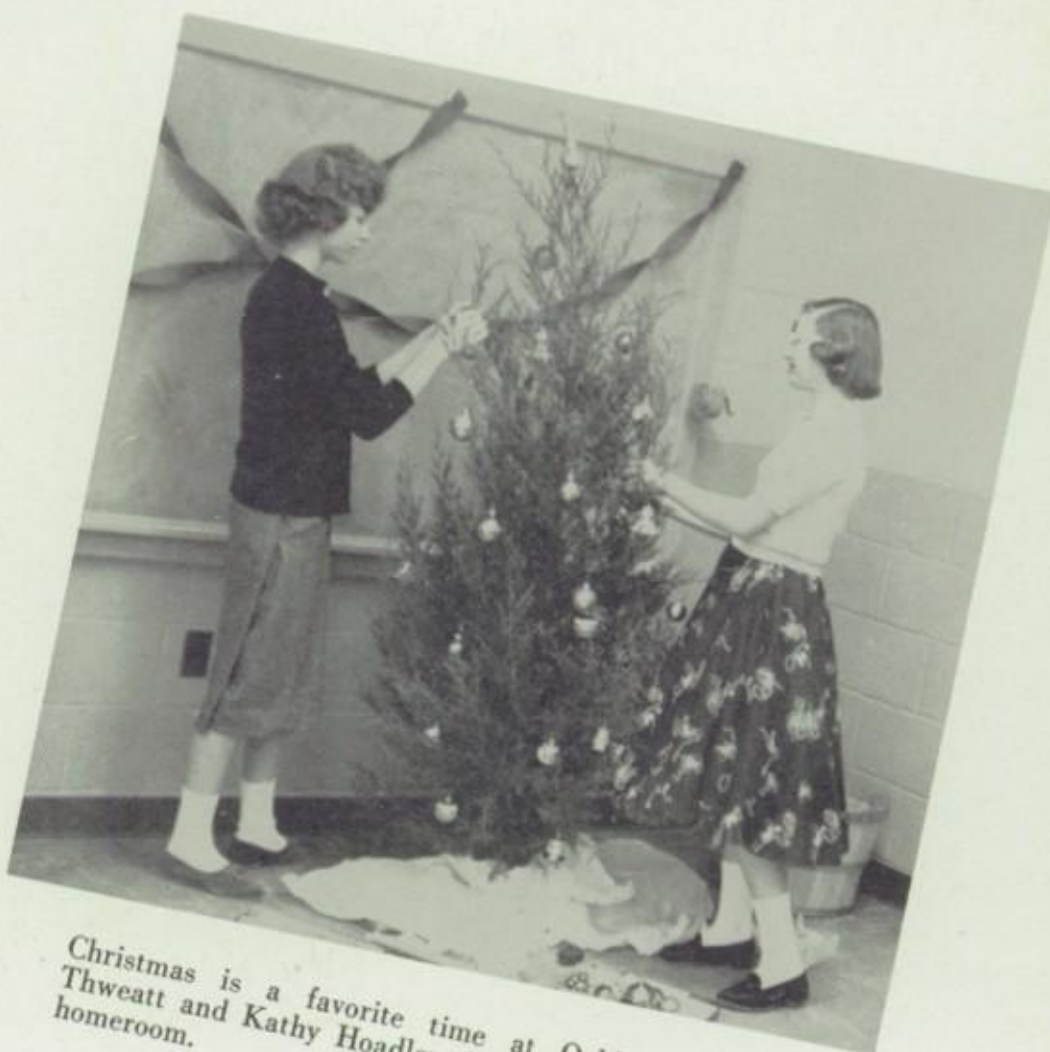

Most students enjoy the weekly bop parties held in the high school cafeteria. Bill Shelton and Carolyn O'Briant; Richard Carter and Glenda Smith; and Curtis Herbert and Lillie Irene Boston demonstrate their dancing abilities. NO! We've never figured out the expression on Richard's face.

Entire Team Pay Rich Dividends in Victories

James Hood, B. Smith, J. Overton, C. Rumsey, and B. Allison watch a daring effort made by the Hawks. Oakhaven's unique mascot is also an interested spectator.

The Hawks started their football season by defeating a hard-hitting Crawfordsville, Arkansas, team, 26-14. Although Crawfordsville was the 1958 Champion of Crittenden County, it could not stop the fighting Hawks from scoring time after time.

Oakhaven took another step up their ladder of victories by defeating Germantown, 13-6. The Hawks were batting a thousand with a 2-0 record.

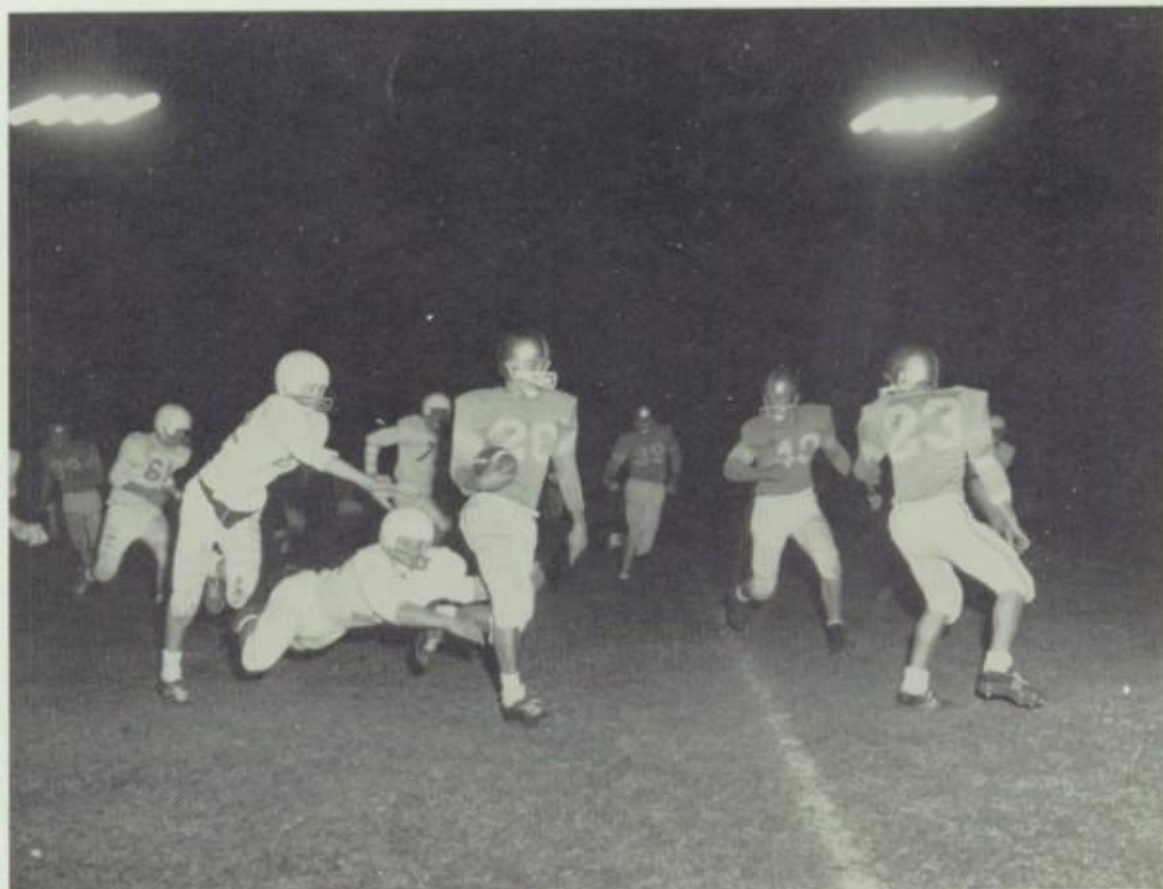

The Hawks broke their winning streak when three bad centers and two intercepted passes set Collierville up for touchdowns. Oakhaven showed good sportsmanship, but was unable to score. The final score was 42-0.

A great comeback was made when Oakhaven downed Harding, 53-0 for their highest score of the season. With eight touchdowns and five extra points, they held their opponents scoreless.

The Tigers of Whitehaven tied the Hawks of Oakhaven in one of the best games of the season. Oakhaven tried desperately to break the tie, but was unable to. The game ended at 13-13 all.

In a game, outstanding for good sportsmanship, the Millington Trojans downed Oakhaven, 20-6. The Hawks couldn't stop the Men of Troy's charging line in spite of tireless efforts.

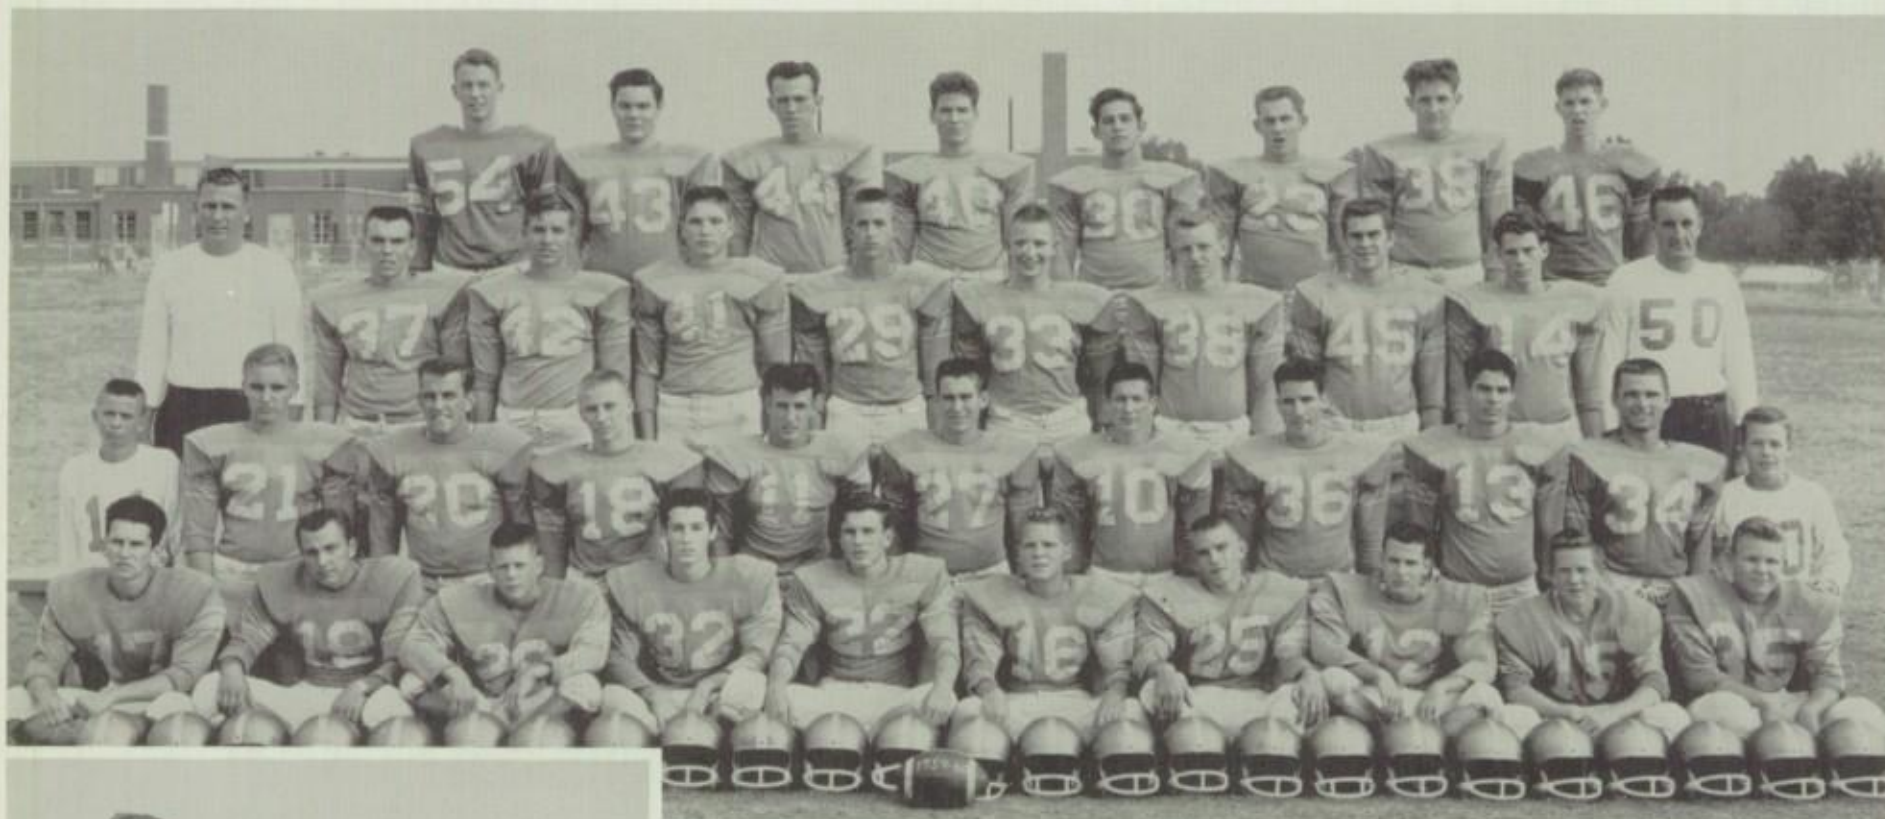

In their next outing, Oakhaven continued to run up its season's record by defeating the 1958 Char-pions of Tate County by a score of 48-7. The Hawks made seven touchdowns and six extra points, to Independence's one touchdown and one extra point.

Oakhaven's Wesley Newman makes a thrilling run, one of the best of the season, with the help of blocker Terrell Sides.

Bartlett could not stop the advance of the fighting linemen and fast backfield men from Oakhaven in their eighth game. The Hawks marched to victory with a 27-6 lead at the end of the game.

Oakhaven stuck another hawk feather in its football helmet when Frayser was defeated by the Hawks. At the end of the half, Oakhaven held their opponent 28-0. Frayser was able to make only one touchdown and an extra point. The final score was 28-7.

The Hawk season ended in a sound defeat of Overton, 32-0.

Teamwork and Good Sportsmanship

Cager, Ralph Thornton, tries a long field goal while several members of the opposing team make an effort to block the shot.

Coached by Mr. Carter Brown, Oakhaven began its 1959-60 basketball season with a warm-up game against Overton in which Overton downed the Hawks 41-33. In the next game Oakhaven was defeated soundly by a determined Frayser team 80-46.

In spite of two defeats the Hawks made a great effort to make a comeback in their next game with East High. However, the Hawks were unable to stop the East Mustangs, who defeated them 53-23.

The team seemed to be improving, but victory eluded them in their next game with M.U.S., and again the Hawks lost 67-46.

After a defeat by Whitehaven the Oakhaven cagers broke into the win column by defeating the Trojans 58-50 in a hard-fought contest. Fans and players were highly encouraged by the win, but Oakhaven's young, inexperienced team could not compete with the Shelby County Champions Bartlett, in their next game.

Another heartbreak was handed to Oakhaven by Germantown, in an exceptionally sporting game which ended at Germantown 42, Oakhaven 41.

The next three games found Oakhaven the loser, in spite of improvement, fine spirit and determined effort; on one of these games the Hawks gave Bolton a scare as they were beaten 38-33.

The second victory for the Hawks came when they defeated Harding Academy 75-60. Victory was sweet and the team wanted to keep it, and did by defeating University High School of Oxford, Mississippi, in their next game, by a score of 61-43.

Oakhaven's next two games with M.U.S. and Whitehaven brought losses to the team from ball clubs particularly noted for tight defense. In their next game the Hawk cagers again defeated Millington by a score of 62-56.

Managers, Charles Force and Charles Davis, are responsible for team uniforms and equipment.

Coaches Carter Brown and Joe Clayton watch practice carefully so that they may give the team pointers for improvement.

The team's next two games brought them one defeat by Bartlett and a victory over Germantown.

In the season's last four games the Hawks showed much more promise than they had at the beginning of the season. However, three of these games, with Collierville, and two with Bolton, brought defeat to the team. A victory over Harding, 52-44, thrilled the fans as the final seconds showed Oakhaven handling the ball beautifully.

The Hawks came through their first year against Shelby County varsity teams rather well, considering their age and experience. All through the season, the members of the team showed extremely good sportsmanship and attitude in victory and defeat. The following boys received varsity letters: Paul Newland, Eddie Hood, Jim Potts, Staten Grisham, Clyde Dunaway, Ralph Thornton, Benny Smith, Bill Shelton, Howard Cowgill. Benny Smith was named most outstanding player and Staten Grisham was named team Captain. High point man for the year was Ralph Thornton.

Oakhaven Is Proud of Its Principal, Mr. W. D. Croft

Oakhaven's principal, Mr. William Dudley Croft is always ready to discuss students' problems or plans with them. The student body feels fortunate in having him as its administrator and friend.

Principal's Message

As a boy on the farm I learned that only weeds grow without work. Nothing worthwhile just happens; work and planning, along with a will to achieve are essential to success. Our society today is more demanding and selective than it was a generation ago. The areas for achieving greater and the technical know-how is more exact, but many more demands are being made in the areas of general knowledge and the ability to get along with others.

Oakhaven School is attempting to make it possible for each student to grow and achieve to the very best of his abilities. To grow in the knowledge of man, country, and God is an ideal to be reached for throughout life; therefore, our school encourages full participation in school, community, and church activities.

I wish to congratulate the Annual Staff on their wonderful job in making this, the first annual, successful in depicting life at Oakhaven School this year. I trust that you, as students, will appreciate the hard work that has made this Annual so outstanding.

Constantly occupied with school business, Mr. Croft works to improve Oakhaven.

Paulette Dyer seems to be concerned and cautious with sewing Terrell Sides into his costume, for the Dramatics Club's production of "Cinderella." Her efforts probably saved some "embarrassing moments."

One of our interest centers at Oakhaven is our downstairs bulletin board. Here Howard Crowson, Betty Ford, and Ann Mobley view the Thanksgiving display, one of the best of the year.
